BECOMING THE WALKING, TALKING, LIVING MASTER ON EARTH

In the beginning, there was the Oneness. The Oneness desired to experience itself. The Oneness pushed outward and created the Big Bang. Suddenly, the Oneness separated and created aspects of itself in an external form.

At that moment, the first emotion was created. What could this have been?

Love?

Love was already an intrinsic part of the Oneness. But now it experienced a new emotion. What was this?

Separation.

Yes! Separation. And separation gave rise to the first relationship. Now different parts of the Oneness had to forge relationships with each other. Before that, there was just...oneness.

In the same way, when the Oneness separated, sacred geometric symbols were also created for the first time. Before that, the Oneness was just unified. Suddenly, there were various energetic symbols that came into being. For convenience, visualize these as triangles, squares, circles, rods and so on.

At first, these individuated, basic sacred geometric symbols had no form, no mass, no density...they were pure energy. But as they desired relationships, they began to unite with each other. A few combined with each other: squares merged with circles and triangles, and now they began to have mass... and a planet or a star was birthed.

As these symbols united and began to vibrate together, they began to experience each other's energies. This attracted to them other, more diverse, sacred geometrical symbols; and this further union gave rise to more complex, refined forms of life.

This background is necessary for what we wish to discuss today. Over time, as these symbols further combined, they created your Higher Souls.

So what is the Higher Soul? It certainly is the stream, the flow, which percolates downward from the highest vibrational aspect of the self. But the Higher Soul also contains countless sacred geometric symbols that are not a part of this particular incarnation.

You have selectively chosen, with great care and infinite wisdom, the necessary combination of sacred geometric symbols to create the current You. You have specifically chosen that which is necessary to create your current personality, aptitude and rhythm.

Does this remain static? Not at all. You start off life with a certain pre-determined combination of perhaps a million sacred geometrical symbols; but as you grow and evolve on earth, you continuously draw to the self more and more of these symbols, and repeatedly re-configure them in even more complex formations.

In exactly the same way, the Masters have their own, unique combination of sacred geometric symbols. These are also a part of your extended energies. If, in this lifetime, you have a particular affinity with a certain Master or group of Masters, you automatically draw aspects of their sacred geometrical symbols into your field and incorporate them in your structure.

So far, all of this has happened at a higher-conscious level. This year, we offer you the opportunity to consciously call upon new sacred geometric symbols that belong to Master frequencies and incorporate them into your structure, so that you become “the walking, talking, living Master”.

In the past, the physical Masters had to incarnate on earth to spread wisdom and knowledge. At that time, there was no worldwide media or connection. They had to descend in physical form, and spread their light and teachings to a group of people in their vicinity.

Today, as the world is a Unified place, the Masters no longer choose to incarnate in singular form. They are now offering you the opportunity to live as the Master and the Human, in complete union.

Dear, dear friends; you have not even begun to understand or appreciate the magnitude of what we are saying; it will sink in over time. You now have the divine right, and the divine ability, to choose to be a representative of any Master of your choice.

Let us hypothetically say that you are a devotee of Sai Baba. You now have the right and the ability to command the Sai frequencies to merge their sacred geometrical symbols with yours, so that you become the walking, talking, living Sai Baba on earth.

Do not misunderstand us: this does not imply that you are giving your power away to a Master. You are, in no way, negating who you are. On the contrary, you are merging the Master’s frequencies with yours to such a degree that there is no separation. You will then not be able to tell where one ends, and the other begins.

This process is a beautiful one. It just requires you to deem yourself worthy of the process. Without this step, you cannot do it. But if you do, you can sit down quietly, and with one swift, strong, fervent command... command the Master energy to merge with yours to such a degree that you become his or her walking, talking, living representative on Earth.

There is no official statement or mantra; it has to be your own. But one fervent command, done just once, is enough. Then...just live it.

This will not make you lose your humanity or your individuality. Nor will you become a perfect saint. You will still continue to go through all the ups and downs of earthly life, but your frequencies will now be so high that you will be able to face your challenges, deal with situations and still walk the Master walk.

There is, however, one condition. If you choose to merge in this manner, you also have to commit to being an active Lightworker. Many of you still like to just sit at home and gain knowledge and spiritual awareness. When you merge with the Master's frequency, you will then feel impelled to get out there and work... but always in a manner best suited to the self.

This could include guiding others when they are going astray, sharing your wisdom and knowledge with them, counseling others when needed, occasionally offering others a shoulder upon which to cry, listening to their issues, offering healing and so on.

When you deliberately combine the sacred geometrical symbols of a Master with yours, a 'new you' has to emerge. You cannot live the same way you did before. Please do not be afraid of being pressured into working non-stop. It will simply be an inner desire to live the Lightworker that you already are.

To answer an unasked question: May we merge with the energies of more than one Master?

Yes, you may. However, we would suggest that you start with a singular Master of your choice. First experience this merger over a few weeks. Only then repeat the process with any other Masters you desire; but continue to do so one by one.

Does the sacred geometry we invite in have anything to do with our DNA?

It has everything to do with your DNA. Your DNA is, in actual fact, made up of strings and strings of sacred geometrical symbols. These symbols are so microscopic that they cannot yet be identified, nor isolated, by your earthly scientific instruments.

They are connected like links on a chain. Imagine a circle interlinked with a square interlinked with a triangle and so on. This gives you an image of a singular chain. Now imagine it occurring multi-dimensionally.

How does the sacred geometry of our Higher Soul get distributed among our various simultaneous and concurrent incarnations?

Your higher soul configures the 'right combination' of sacred geometry necessary for each one of your incarnations.

Let us hypothetically say that a certain incarnational aspect of the self need to start out by experiencing timidity. The higher soul may then (again hypothetically) create it with a combination of three triangles, two squares and a circle. However, another portion of 'you' needs to be assertive and pro-active. That will then be created with the appropriate sacred geometrical symbols; ones that facilitate that energy.

As your simultaneous incarnations undergo varied experiences, each one feeds back this data into the Higher Soul, thereby contributing to its growth and magnificence.

So what happens when we die?

You then merge back all your sacred geometric symbols into the Higher Soul, along with the new ones you have created in this lifetime, due to your various experiences and growth.

So the Higher Soul grows and grows this way?

Yes! The Higher Soul needs you grow. And you need the Higher Soul to grow. It's 'the chicken and the egg' syndrome.

What of a person who comes with a certain high frequency, makes a lot of mistakes, does not follow his life mission, and then returns to the Higher Soul with a lower frequency?

The Higher soul does not distinguish between 'high frequencies' and 'low frequencies'. It only perceives 'experience'. So, no matter what you do, you always feed it with experience.

Yes, you may have come to experience A, B and C; but instead you experience X, Y and Z. Those aspects are then fed back into the Higher Soul. It will simply create another incarnation for you; one that experiences A, B and C.

The Masters have repeatedly been urging us, over the years, to embrace the Divine in Oneness. Now you appear to be asking us to see the Masters as individuals, and only work with their strands one by one. I really believe that I come from the Divine.

Are you the Divine? Of course you are. You are, indeed, co-creators of the Universe. But most people are not yet ready to fully acknowledge and embrace this concept.

Every experience you undergo feeds back, in a loop, to your Higher Soul and to the Divine. Every experience you offer the Divine helps it grow and evolve. And the Divine, in turn, fuels you with the necessary energy to keep undergoing experiences. So the Universe depends on you to grow and evolve; and you depend on the Universe to grow and evolve.

You are, truly, co-creators. Without you, the Universe would not exist. When we say 'you', we refer to every species and every aspect of the Universe. Each is co-dependent on the other.

If even one species in the Universe was completely wiped out, it would affect all other beings in existence, unless a counter-balance is created somewhere else in the Universe.

When the dinosaurs were wiped out on Earth, this was not a ‘mistake’. Planet Earth desired a complete upgrade of her ‘primitive’ species. Their sacred geometric make-up was such that it did not keep pace with Earth’s desire for rapid growth and evolution. They were therefore allowed to be terminated, in one swift stroke, by the effects of a giant meteor that hit Planet Earth. Earth instantly upgraded her prototype for new, more evolved species.

This would have had tremendous repercussions on all other societies and species in the Universe if another, new species had not been created on another planet; which it was.

Dear Friends, we are now offering you a new flow: the ability to truly acknowledge and appreciate your power and self-worth by fully merging with a Master. When you draw a strand from your Master, it’s far more complex than you imagine. Each strand is comprised of trillions of sacred geometrical symbols, offered by the Master to enhance your structure.

But, as we said earlier, it can only be integrated by you if you truly deem yourself worthy of this process. Without an inner sense of “I am truly worthy of being the walking/talking/living Sai or Jesus or Buddha”, the frequencies will simply pass through you and return to the Master.

Even though this is being shared with you because you are ready for it, many will still not feel worthy. So be it: all in good time. This offer is open-ended; it has no ‘expiry date’.

Many say, “I truly believe in the flow of Divinity; of Oneness”. But for most, these are just words. They may think it, but very few truly know that they are worthy of it.

May we connect with the sacred geometry of abstract energies in the same way?

Indeed you may. Abstract energies are also Master energies, but without a form or name. Let us explain this for the benefit of many newcomers in the room today.

Abstract energies are the new order of the day. Most youngsters are more comfortable connecting with these Masters, rather than with traditional Masters. There are countless abstract energies, such as the abstract energy of music, technology, science and so on. These are as powerful, mighty and as 'real' as any named Master.

How does one align with the Masters?

You first have to bring yourself into relative balance. No human is capable of perfect balance. You can bring yourself into relative balance by meditating, or sitting quietly with the self, or listening to music. Then, call upon any Master frequency and visualize the energies flowing into your structure. Then trust it has happened.

If you live the teachings of a Master, does this give you a sense of worthiness?

If you truly live the teachings of a Master; then yes. Many, however, follow the teachings of a Master, but still continue to feel small and insignificant. Then there is no self-worth. 'Feeling worthy' is an inner space of certainty that you deserve this. It has nothing to do with arrogance or lack; it is simply quiet certainty.

Surely worthiness comes not from following a Master, but from living an expanded life in flow with the divine and your own energies?

Yes; but that is your way of touching worthiness. Each has to find his or her own. Some even discover their own self-worth when they blindly follow a so-called Master who then falls from the pedestal on which they have placed him. They then discover that they have given their power away. This teaches them to rely on their own power.

No true Master, living or in spirit, will ever ask you to give your power away to him. He will always urge you to touch your own power and discover your self-worth.

The current Church's interpretation of the Jesus' frequencies has gone completely awry. All you repeatedly hear is 'penance', 'punishment', 'sin', 'confession', 'deprivation', 'atonement' and so on. This is a perverted interpretation of a magnificent Master who only works with the flow of LOVE. He only wants you to embrace your fullness, your magnificence and your flow of love. So do not confuse what you hear with what IS.
