THE FIRST WAVE OF ENERGIES OF 2017

THE ENERGIES OF DONALD TRUMP

FREE-WILL ON EARTH

Greetings!

We have already given you a general idea of 2017. Yes, the energy flow has already begun. So when we refer to that year, we are actually speaking of the present moment onwards.

During 2017, wave after wave of energies are going to be released worldwide. The first wave, which has already begun, is urging humanity to reassess its values.

If you now look at the two events that have just taken place, one in this country and one in the United States of America, both offer individuals the opportunity to reassess their perception of money and finance, corruption, ethics, morals, government, leadership and so on.

Let's begin with the recent Presidential elections. When any leader is elected, he energetically holds a representation of the energies of the collective he governs. He is always a multi-faceted individual, able to hold the frequencies of millions. He does not hold strands of every single individual, but he does hold strands of what they collectively feel and think.

The people of any country generate pockets of the energy of bigotry and hatred. There are also pockets of the energy of hard work and endeavor. One group generates a pocket of laziness and the desire to live off the state. Another group will generate a pocket of focus, abundance and pure creativity. And so on.

The leader of any country must be able to hold representative frequencies of all these aspects. His job is then to hopefully guide the country and his people, with the help of his own powerful energies, away from the 'negative' and into the 'positive' frequencies.

Let's take just one pair of attributes just mentioned. A leader would therefore have to have, in his own structure, an element of laziness and an element of endeavor. His job would then be to guide both himself and his countrymen to first acknowledge their inherent laziness, and then inspire them to work towards endeavor.

The citizens, in turn, have to then acknowledge that all the qualities of the leader also reside in them. So irrespective of whether a person is 'pro' or 'anti' a particular leader, he need to examine the qualities of the leader that stir him up and discover them in himself. This process will help the people of the world reassess their value systems, belief structures, attitudes, modes of behaviour, thought processes and so on.

The President who has just been elected has been discussed in a prior meeting as well. We are not here to approve or disapprove of him; we are here to describe him energetically.

Some of you may recall that, years ago, we had shared with you that one of his greatest strengths is that he is able to love and embrace every aspect of himself. He does not shun any part of himself. He does not condemn any part of himself as vulgar, or bigoted, or headstrong. He embraces every aspect of the self and truly feels that he is magnificent. And his energetic mission is to help others, worldwide, also touch and acknowledge their own magnificence.

Of course every incarnated individual, be it a President or a beggar, has also come to Earth to learn lessons, grow and evolve; and every individual has aspects he needs to examine and modify. But you cannot begin to do so unless you have first fully embraced those aspects. His energies urge you towards doing this, so that you can then decide when you choose to exercise that aspect, and when not to do so.

Is he going to initiate shake-ups? Yes, he is. Is there a definite outcome? No, because starting 2017, very little will be pre-ordained.

Your quantum of free-will is now so great that outcomes are in your hands, and are not 'written in the stars'. That which appears to be pre-ordained will continue only because you choose to perpetuate it, and not because it has been decided by you before you chose this incarnation.

This period on earth is therefore truly exciting, because the level of free-will Earth now enjoys makes it No. 1 in the Universe, out of all societies that have free-will. You now have more free-will than any society in the Universe.

This is why so many souls have chosen to incarnate on Earth over the last several decades. They all want to be part of this magnificent experience, hence the seeming over-population of the planet during this century.

Could you please explain free-will to us?

If you choose to incarnate into a very advanced, high-vibrational society in the Universe, you automatically flow with the light. You therefore very rarely deviate from 'perfection'. And even if you do, the level of variance is minimal. There is hardly any room for error, as you are so in-tune with the Universe.

But when you come to a 3rd dimensional society like Earth, you can wander off in any direction you choose. You make a lot of 'mistakes' and grow from them. You can follow your life-path or go completely off-track.

An amusing analogy that we have shared in the past is this: a high-vibrational society is like a 5-star hotel experience; Earth is Boot-camp. But the boot-camp experience, though rougher, is far more visceral. It activates and heightens all your senses and gives you a much fuller and more tactile growth experience. Please be aware of this, dear Friends. Your horoscopes, during the course of 2017, have very little 'hold' on you. They are, however, magnificent tools to point you in a certain direction of your choice. But they are not 'written in stone'.

Should you go to a good astrologer or tarot-reader, who rightly points out that your health may be in question during, say, April 2017, you now have two free-will choices.

You can give your power away to the chart or the reader and doom yourself to extreme ill-health by saying, "There is nothing I can do. I am helpless." In which case you will actually create that outcome.

Or you can choose to be in gratitude for having been alerted to this possibility, and you can choose to take extra care of your body, health and nutrition during the prior months. In which case you will have wonderful health in April.

Both outcomes are free-will choices.

Take a moment now, silently, and examine your feelings about the event that has just taken place in India. If you think it is good, mentally list three reasons why you think so. If you think it is bad, do the same. (Pause)

We suggest you play with these three reasons in your own time. See how they reflect you. Don't be literal. Let's take an example.

If one of your statements was, "This event makes me feel cornered and trapped", then examine areas in your life where you feel this way. This may have no bearing on finance and the money market. You may find yourself emotionally trapped, or mentally restricted. Then examine this issue.

If, however, your statement was "I applaud this event as it is a step towards freeing us of corruption", then examine where you are working towards freeing yourself of corruption. Again, don't be literal, as this may have no bearing on financial corruption.

You may find that, in the past, you were extremely emotionally corrupt with yourself, duping yourself into believing that someone loved you when he didn't, or allowing yourself to remain stuck in a loveless situation out of fear. This may be the issue that you are still working on, and feel motivated to take it even further.

Now take a moment and find three words that come to mind when you think of President Trump. (Pause)

These are three aspects of the self that you are actually working on this month, at a higher-conscious level. Now do the same consciously.

Let us say that someone came up with the word 'arrogance'. Then ask the self what you really feel about this word. In what situations do you exercise arrogance? Do I wish to adjust it, or even intensify it?

Yes friends, the three words may take you aback, and you may instantly go into self-denial and say "I certainly don't have these qualities!" But be courageous and dig deeper.

You are blessed today by an energy that has become a friend of this group. You are blessed by a Universal Collective headed by the NANI PALKHIWALA.

(Sohrab shifts energies)

Greetings!

The energies of President Trump are extremely powerful and volatile. These will function primarily as a reflector of the collective consciousness of his people. Therefore, all decisions that he makes will be based on an energetic percentage of how his people think and feel, and what they desire.

He is like a giant reflector of his peoples' energies. So if 51% or more of his countrymen internally feel a certain level of bigotry towards a particular ethnic group, then he will take some action to oppress or challenge that group. If that percentage then drops down to 49% or less, he will attempt to reverse his action. The same applies to the act of war.

This does not take away from his free-will; an aspect of that will certainly come into play. But he has been placed in this position to be an accurate barometer of the collective.

This will give the people of America, and secondarily the people of the world, an opportunity to reassess their values and take collective responsibility for what he does or does not do.

Now be aware that though he will be directly influenced by his own citizens first, he will be secondarily influenced by the people of the world. In this case, it will need a ratio of 100:1.

Could you please explain this more clearly?

If 100 of his citizens desire war, it would require 100x100=10,000 people worldwide to desire peace, for the initial 100 to be counterbalanced and for this action to not take place.

This is true energetic democracy. This cannot be counted in votes, and it cannot be 'fiddled at the polls'. Almost all his actions will be a true representation of the collective desire.

But be aware that once the percentage tilts in a certain direction and he takes an action based on the collective desire, there are repercussions that cannot always be reversed. They take on an energy of their own.

For example, if the collective decides that nuclear warfare is appropriate and he unleashes this power, there will naturally be worldwide consequences. After that, if the collective awakens and tilts the other way, those consequences cannot be undone.

Apparently Hillary got many more individual votes than he did, yet the American system is such that he won because of the state votes. Please explain this.

A good question. Even though it appeared that she had more supporters and more individuated votes, those who voted for him were so energetically powerful that the tilt went his way. The collective energies of the people of the country were in favour of him. It's all about energy, not about physical votes.

Haven't we, in the past, repeatedly urged this group to work for the collective consciousness, stating that the strong intent of even a few can make a huge difference?

How do Trump's energies fit in with the energies of 2017 in general?

2017 is a year of rebirth and re-creation of the self. He gives humanity the opportunity to examine their values, stand up for what they think is right, and make changes in individual and collective thought, attitude and action.

In a prior meeting, we had told you that this year would be like two roads, one above the other. The lower road would hold the 'muck', and the upper road would hold magnificent frequencies.

He can hold equal amounts of both these energies in his structure. He has to; as he must give the people the opportunity to make a choice and to tilt in either direction. If he lacked either of these two frequencies, he would not be able to do so.

Is he an alien energy?

His energies are predominantly Universal. He has come from a group of Universal beings who are a warrior race of great power and potency, with a tendency towards arrogance.

As an Astrologer, I am aware that his ascendant is Leo...Regulus. This means he comes from Royalty.

You speak of royalty, and we speak of a warrior race. The two are very similar. This warrior race is one of great energetic stature, power and arrogance. It also has the ability to embrace the dark and the light equally. He brings all these qualities to Earth. One of his great strengths is to be able to very quickly initiate what the collective desires. If the collective energetically desires war, then he will start one very speedily. If, however, the collective energetically desires to touch its magnificent roots of hard work and endeavor, then he will speedily create new job opportunities and the country will flourish and experience abundance.

There will be times in which he overrides the collective, but in general he will just be a giant reflector.

We will speak of him more in the future. If there is a lesson in this, let it be that you must now, as people of the world, take responsibility for the collective consciousness. The power is in your hands.

A GROUP OF ELDERS BLESS YOU TODAY.
