

Sohrab's channeling

20th April 2017

A NEW FORM OF THE INNER CHILD

(Sohrab began the meeting by speaking of a certain 'connected' youngster he had recently met. This led to a further discussion on the energies of the current newborns, and the way they are going to be 'earth-shatterers' in the future. The processes of death were re-visited, including the passage of youngsters. A newcomer also spoke to the group of her near-death experience. The channeling then began.)

Greetings!

The lengthy discussion that just took place was extremely important to each person sitting in this room. Do not dismiss it: there are elements in it that you will need over the course of the next three months. Each of you will have some form of interaction with a child like this, or may have to share with another your newfound wisdom.

Though it has not been officially recorded, each of you has recorded that which you need, in your consciousness. Please use it joyously. When the time comes (and it may come several times over), don't hold back. Do not fear talking of this to a stranger. You will be at the right place, at the right time, to share with them what you must.

Dear Friends, a new energetic formation is taking place in your bodies right now: the creation of a brand-new inner-child. Don't confuse this with the inner child with whom you have worked, nor with the Cosmic Inner child to whom you were recently introduced.

This inner child is a new one, being 'born' in the year 2017. It has all the qualities earlier discussed; the same as those of the children being physically born this year. You are therefore giving yourselves the opportunity to be Who You Are with your experience, knowledge, wisdom and growth; and to combine this with new qualities. These include being an 'energy shatterer', a maverick and an energy worker of tremendous magnitude, in any field of your choosing.

This new inner child has no physical form; it is pure energy. This was not part of the 'plan of the human race' before 2017. It has been conceptualized and is now being experimented with, starting this year. So none of you could have foreseen this, and none of you know how the experiment is going to play out. Even we do not have an answer to give you, as we do not know where you are going to take this in the future.

So far, this new inner child is a form of energy that is exuberant, vital, optimistic and motivated. It is giving you energetic fuel to listen to the urges that are going to arise within the self and will also propel you in that direction.

These urges are arising from two sources: your own higher soul and your earthly consciousness.

The higher soul is likely to urge you to explore unknown avenues, or to function in a different way, or to think and behave in a more expanded manner. The earthly consciousness (your brain) may also urge you to try something different and exciting, expand your horizons and explore the unknown.

These urges will start with daily activities like trying out a new recipe, taking up a new hobby, experimenting with the arts and writing, changing your look, body shape, style of clothing and so on. They will, of course, increase in intensity, taking you into esoteric realms as well. You may suddenly feel urged to start a new business or spiritual venture, take up a new course of study, start a group or share your wisdom and expertise with others. Most people will, in short, be urged to 'explore the unknown'.

Tune in, as the new inner child will speak up very clearly and loudly, and will refuse to accept your resistance. If you continue to thwart the inner child, it will 'act up' and really irritate you, annoy you and nag incessantly, till you give in and listen.

Don't think you are being forced to do things that you don't want to; that will never happen. Remember, these urges are the promptings of your own brain and higher soul; there is no question of being forced into them by some unknown external source. So listen, tune in, and get familiar with your new inner child.

You may, if you so wish, visualize this as a physical child; but we would instead suggest that you visualize it as pure, creative energy. Yes: energy that is bubbling up within the self, giving you fuel, power, exuberance, a sense of fun and a sense of exploration.

Many of you, this year, will feel urged to do unusual, odd, extremely uncharacteristic and even 'dangerous' things. You will probably shock and horrify your loved ones. You may even shock yourselves. We say, "Go for it!"

What of the old inner child? Does it still exist?

Most certainly. Your old inner child and your cosmic child will co-exist with the new inner child. But remember, when a new child is born into a family with existing children, the family dynamics always change.

This new inner child will stimulate the other inner children. It may even cause havoc in your energetic family; we use this word in the best possible sense. A stir-up is necessary and healthy.

Has the birthing already begun?

Yes it has. The energy has already begun to flow; but the quantum of this energy will depend on your alignment with it and your desire to connect with it. It's just like ignoring a newborn baby, or choosing to love it and welcome it into your energetic family.

If we go out on a limb and just 'go for it', as you just advised, how much is the risk factor? (Laughter)

High! Still 'go for it'! If you follow your impulses, however dangerous the task may be, you will grow and evolve at a phenomenal rate. Even if a few obstacles appear in your path...take the fall, pick yourself up, dust yourself off and continue to 'go for it'.

(Pointing to a group member) Dear friend, his mission is now going to reveal itself. He will weather the storm and, to him, it will be as insignificant as a cough and cold.

Could one call this new inner child 'the child of intuition'?

It is not 'the child of intuition', but this child will be highly intuitive. It will align with your intuition, impulses, capability, desires and so on.

Is this aiding the re-birthing that we are all going through this year?

Yes, it is the core aspect of this process.

Is it a Universal energetic child?

Yes, it is completely universal in content.

What of those who do not wish to grow with the new energies of 2017?

They will then have no option but to shed the physical body and return to spirit. Now please do not assume that everyone who chooses to pass over this year is doing so because they are rejecting these energies. In fact, many are using these energies to propel themselves into the spirit realm. But is still is a choice.

So, in a sense, this is the start of our life's mission?

This is actually the re-creation of your life's mission. Some will amend their mission, and others will write themselves a brand new one. Observe this in the self and in others. There will be people, for example, who have never, ever, been involved with science, who will suddenly make scientific breakthroughs. There will be people who have never before been involved with politics, who may now enter this sphere and effect world changes. Nothing is now denied to you, if you so desire it.

This is also a wonderful change in worldwide belief. 51% of the population now believes, "If I shift internally, I can cure myself of diseases." This leap forward has taken place during the last 2 years. Prior to this, only 13% believed this. Now 51% do so.

Please understand that when we quote this statistic, we are referring to their subconscious. In many cases, this inner understanding has not yet entered the conscious mind. But there is now an inner certainty that "I can change my body and cure myself of disease. I am responsible for my health and well-being." This is momentous; this had to happen to facilitate the birthing of the new inner child.

What percentage of the population really believes in oneness?

This question cannot be answered with statistics or with clarity. Yes, there is an underlying 'knowingness'; one which every religion preaches. But humans constantly vacillate between feelings of oneness and separation. Don't you? But take heart; consciousness is rising.

So many newborns and young children are being massacred in large numbers right now, due to war and famine. What of their new inner children? Are they being guided? Is this part of their plan?

During this current time period, most of the children who are choosing to return to spirit through a violent exit (be it war, female infanticide, murder and so on) are doing so because they are grand souls who are serving a dual purpose.

They have contracted to come to earth for a deliberately short time-span, before moving into very, very high energetic realms. Most are therefore going directly from 'the massacre', to completely expansive realms of energy and self-awareness. They have chosen a very brief, yet intensive course of study for themselves before doing to.

They also serve a second purpose: they are urging humanity to awaken to its inhumanity, its misdeeds, and its separation. They are urging the human race to embrace oneness.

What happens to the inner children when a person passes over?

This is another difficult question to answer briefly and succinctly; we truly appreciate the fact that all of you have now evolved to the point where you ask questions that even challenge us!

The cosmic inner child is the flame that is you; it is the distilled essence of your higher soul. So when the physical form is shed, it simply travels with you into the spirit realm.

Your earthly inner children, who contain your pain, trauma, joy and experiences of this lifetime and others, also travel with you to the spirit realm. These then merge into one mass of energy. It is this mass of energy that you study when you access your Akashic records. You then decide how you would like to work with them in the future. So when you have made choices and choose to take another incarnation, they follow you there, in a new and reconstructed form of your own re-creation.

And what of this new inner child? We have no idea where you are going to take this experiment.

So what of our blueprints? How are they going to be affected by the new inner child?

Dear friend, this has been spoken of at a previous session. All blueprints are now fluid. Many people will still follow aspects of what they have laid out for themselves to study and assimilate, but whether or not they choose to do so is now in their hands, and is no longer 'written in the stars'.

Let us illustrate this with an example. If a soul has chosen to come to earth to move from victimhood to self-empowerment, the person is likely to continue to choose to work at that. But how she does so is fluid.

If she had chosen to do so through a bullying spouse, she may now decide that this method is not working for her, and she may then energetically remove him from her life, and instead work on it in a different way. She could even choose to defer this lesson to another lifetime, and work on other aspects of self-growth instead. Her free will now reigns supreme.

So what of cornerstones in the blueprint? These were considered inviolable.

These are now fluid. They have not 'vanished', but you can now choose to remove them, if you so desire.

I seem to recall that a few weeks ago, we were told that Karma could now be removed and we could choose to start 'with a clean slate'. However, if we review our inner children in spirit and bring them back, wouldn't this be a part of karma?

Another good question! Karma will be erased only by those souls who have evolved to the degree that they are ready to embrace this concept. If you are one of those, and truly believe that you are ready and able to put aside past karma, start with a 'clean slate' and are ready to learn new and exciting lessons, then it will be so. Then your inner children will simply transfer themselves to others who have the same issues to work out.

But many are not quite ready for this, and continue to choose to carry karma forward.

Let us give you an earth analogy; that of various students who enroll in a certain college course. One student may decide very quickly that the course does not suit his structure, and he may leave it before the examinations, and take up a completely different course of study. Whereas another student may decide that he wishes to complete it, even if he is not completely satisfied with it. Free-will choices.

BLESSINGS, JOY, LOVE, LIGHT AND THE EMBRACE OF ST. GERMAIN.
